

Barrington, IL ---Land Escapes Inc. is pleased to announce the addition of Kris Guy as Senior Account Manager of Landscape Maintenance.

Kris brings both horticulture experience and first-class customer service expertise to his new position at Land Escapes. He has more than twenty three years of green industry experience specializing in landscape maintenance, snow removal and property enhancements. His passion is joining together people and their love for the landscape; either on a large or small scale. "I love to listen to clients' dreams and enjoy the challenge of molding those ideas to create something they will enjoy for years to come," says Kris.

In his new role as Senior Account Manager, he will be responsible for the sale, renewal and production of landscape management work as well as estimating, personnel training/development, property enhancement/budgeting and customer satisfaction. His portfolio has consisted of high-end local and national food chains, international manufacturing leaders, local management companies, Board-managed sites and individual residences. No matter the size of the client's property, he knows it's the personal service that really makes a difference.

"Kris' solid horticultural knowledge and diverse background in customer care, combined with his strong leadership skills, make him a great fit for our organization" says Dean Strom, President of Land Escapes, Inc. "I've always prided myself in knowing that I was personally available to clients anytime they needed me. That won't change now, our ability to serve will get even better. I have known Kris for a long time. I wouldn't hire just anyone, I chose the best. We are looking forward to a very productive future with him on the team."

A native of the Chicagoland area, Kris now resides in Elgin with his wife Julie and their four children. When not working within their home landscape, they love to travel, spend summers in Lake Geneva with family, are active in their kid's sports and volunteer for various school and area organizations.